Better Together	We at Better Together are busy as we prepare for an increase in need for our services. We have already seen an increase in calls by 155%! Our programs remain fully operational with precautions. We are ensuring that children are not sick as they are placed with a host family and have not traveled recently. If they are experiencing any symptoms, even if just a runny nose we are requiring that they be seen by Lee telehealth first. We know how important relational support is during this time and so our mentorship referrals are being connected as soon as possible via virtual avenues, such as zoom or phone. We are expecting an increase in need for our hosting program and in preparation for that we are hosting one hour volunteer informational meetings via zoom and following up with an online video training specific to the role of interest. All fingerprints and home-studies are being done one on one.

Grace Works Unlimited	Grace Works Unlimited has stopped all volunteering at this time but we have taken on new ways to serve. Grace Works is collecting any and all in-kind donations from individuals and organizations within the community to give to other nonprofits to meet the needs of their clientele. We are partnering with 12 different nonprofits/organizations and would love to help more if needed. We are working closely with Park Alliance Church in south Fort Myers to hand out bags of groceries to individual families within our area. We also launched a new program, "Cards for Seniors"- where families can make special cards and we deliver to seniors quarantined within facilities.
Harry Chapin Food Bank	Harry Chapin Food Bank is open for operations. We are continuing to support agencies in our network as best we can with limited donations and volunteers. As always, we do not serve individuals directly at our facilities. Senior kit distributions are continuing unchanged. Some distribution sites may close, and timing may shift. Clients should check our website for updates. Our mobile pantries are operating normally right now, with adjustments to protect participants from infection. Mobile pantries will transition soon to a drive-thru model distributing kits of shelf-stable items supplemented with fresh food as available.
