Dara Leichter

Susan Murphy
Cancer Survivor

Diagnosed with one of the most aggressive forms of breast cancer and having no insurance, Susan Murphy considered ignoring the diagnosis. Dara Leichter, RN, nurse navigator, wasn't going to let that happen. "Dara and the entire team at the Regional Cancer Center helped me emotionally and physically," Susan says. "Even on the hardest days, they made me feel better, and now I'm in remission."

Regional Cancer Center

The Regional Cancer Center opened in October 2008 as a destination for cancer patients, who now can receive nearly 100 percent of their care under one roof. The only one of its kind in Southwest Florida, the Regional Cancer Center is a unique partnership between Lee Memorial Health System and our private physician partners, 21st Century Oncology and Florida Cancer Specialists.

The Regional Cancer Center features some of the latest technology, such as Varian's Trilogy™, which provides precise radiation treatment, and a PET-CT scanner that can pinpoint cancer activity at the cellular level. The Regional Cancer Center has a state-of-the-art chemotherapy/infusion center; an in-house lab and pharmacy; palliative care services, which include pain and symptom management and life planning; support services, patient navigation by specialized nurses; genetic counseling; and art therapy. All of the nurses at the Center are oncology certified.

The Regional Cancer Center also offers a variety of services for patients and their family members to treat the mind, body and spirit. Patients and families can participate in workshops to learn about different types of cancers, relax in our healing garden or enjoy a meal at Frank's Deli—which includes a menu created especially for patients undergoing cancer treatment. Cookie's Place—a boutique located within the Regional Cancer Center—features products like wigs, scarves, breast forms and other products that help cancer patients look and feel good while undergoing treatment. Cookie's Place also has a lending resources library, which allows patients, families and visitors to borrow books on cancer, other health-related topics, self-help and inspirational subjects. Massage, yoga and support groups also are available at the Regional Cancer Center.

The Regional Cancer Center also has a unique partnership with Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center in Boston. This allows us to better serve patients from the Northeast who winter in Florida, and provides us access to advanced academic programs that may benefit our patients.

Working together with

Lee Memorial Health System has been designated a Community Hospital Comprehensive Cancer Program by the Commission on Cancer. This is the highest possible rating for a nonteaching hospital.

EHR allows secure sharing of patient information, which enables better collaboration among physicians, enhances patient safety and real-time documentation of tests, diagnoses and notes. Patients also can now use MyChart, which provides secure and direct online access to portions of the EHR, including lab results, appointment information, medications, immunizations and much more.
