Lee County Parks & Recreation seeks public input on preserve amenities

Fort Myers, FL, Jan. 28, 2025 – Lee County Parks & Recreation is seeking public input on potential enhancements to four county preserves, including the addition of new trails and amenities.

Residents are invited to attend a public meeting to review and discuss the first round of recreational concept plans for Pine Lake Preserve, Oak Hammock Preserve, Four Mile Cove Preserve and West Marsh Preserve. The meeting will take place from 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13, at the North Fort Myers Recreation Center, 2000 North Recreation Park Way, North Fort Myers.

Lee County Parks & Recreation is collaborating with the National Park Service's Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance Program to develop conceptual designs for these preserves. Community input will help shape future improvements.

For those unable to attend in person, an online commenting platform will be available from Feb. 13 through March 14 at the Lee County Parks & Recreation website at www.leeparks.org and via social media.

Public participation is vital to ensuring Lee County's preserves reflect the needs and preferences of the community. Residents who use these recreational areas are encouraged to provide feedback on desired amenities and improvements.
