

Relief fund established for victims of Hurricane Irma launched – give by county if you wish

100% of contributions will be disbursed to those in need

The Southwest Florida Community Foundation has joined forces with the United Way of Lee, Hendry, Glades and Okeechobee Counties to create a giving fund to help in the aftermath of those affected by Hurricane Irma. People can donate online or by text, and can choose which county they wish to direct their funds.

100 percent of the funds donated through the Southwest Florida Community Foundation will directly help people displaced from their homes and those suffering loss due to the hurricane and floods. Remember, contributions are tax deductible.

We are also working alongside our colleagues at the Community Foundation of Collier County and the Charlotte County Community Foundation.
